NOGALES ITEMS.

From the Frontier.

The Conasa stage makes a regular weekly trip to the Copper mines, leaving here every Monday, going through in one day, and returning on Saturday.

James Birrell, ex conductor on the Sonora Limited, was thrown off the hind end of a train near Huachuca station on Tuesday last, but fortunately escaped without serious injury.

About four car loads of coal from the Raton mountain, in New Mexico, passed through. It is used for the cooking up of the steamer City of Topeka at Guaymas.

The celebrated Sulphur mine, which was belonged to the Monteverde family a long time, and situated about forty miles east of Hermosillo, has at last changed hands, having become the property of an English company. The price paid for the mine was $250,000. This has been a steady bullion producing mine for years, and no doubt under the new management it will produce more bullion than ever.

Don Louis Torres, governor of the state of Sonora, passed through here on his return from the City of Mexico on Sunday last. The governor stated to a frontier local that the federal government had agreed to furnish all the men and troops necessary to subject the Yaqui Indians to civil rule, and that i was the intention of the government to compel them to form within their reservation or exterminate them. The governor was accompanied by several civil officials, whose names we failed to learn, and their servants.

New Mining Law.

The Territory has just passed provides as follows: That locators place a substantial stake or monument of a permanent character at each end of the round claimed, and others as near as practicable along the course of the ledge, and also similar objects at each corner of the claim; said stakes to contain the name of the claim, and notices to be placed in monuments as heretofore. The line of stakes along the ledge shall not afterward be changed so as to effect the rights acquired by others. A location might be recorded within 60 days.

Recorders are to receive for recording the sum of one dollar for the first ten and twenty cents for each additional acre. It also provides for the indexing of all locations made and to be made.

It further provides that before sixty days after the period fixed by the United States law for the annual expenditures (assessment work) upon claims, the miners must file with the recorder of county an affidavit certifying forth that the full amount has been expended, as required by law, and containing a concise description of the character of such work and is used for what year. From the time of the filing of such affidavit he same shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated, and shall entitle notice thereof to all persons; if even one partner does not come to him with his part of the assessment work the other may do it and file notice of having done the same with the recorder, he to keep an alphabetical list of such affidavits. This also applies to placer claims. The law goes into effect three months from the date of its passage. —Tucson Daily.

Turtle Dove.

The cooing of the turtle dove indicates the coming of spring, and the Jews were wont to rejoice at the singing of birds and the budding of trees.

The Syrian, or turtle dove, about one-third the size of the dove of the ark, is to be found along the Gila river, especially at Florence, where they nest in the cottonwood trees and feed in the streets and roads, as nobody does them any harm. It is not customary among sportsmen to kill doves of any kind, but the turtle dove is held especially secure in account of its innocence.

The propagation of those little doves might be encouraged for exportation as they are exceedingly rare.
